

Take A Look At Yourself

Pistol whipped is a term I use on occasion. The actual act I perform on occasion also. However, I try to avoid the act being performed upon my person, but that can't always be controlled.

Today, it appears, is one of those uncontrollable days.

Coming to in a car trunk has never been a favorite thing of mine. Coming to and staring into my own eyes is certainly on the bottom of the favorite things list. Coming to and staring into my own dead eyes doesn't even make the list.

I really hope I'm not the clone in this scenario.
