

Silly Talk
By

“Is this an eyeball?”

“Excuse me?”

“In my soup, is this an eyeball? It’s staring up at me!”

“No. It’s not an eyeball.”

“It looks like an eyeball.”

“Have you ever seen one?”

“One what?”

“An eyeball.”

“Of course I’ve seen an eyeball!”

“Right, but have you ever seen one that wasn’t in someone’s head?”

“Well, um, no, don’t think that I have.”

“Then how do you know it’s an eyeball?”

“Well, I’ve never seen a zebra in real life, but I’d know one if it was in my soup!”

“That’s silly talk. A zebra couldn’t fit in your soup.”
